

MINOR IN MEDIA LITERACY

Media Literacy Minor – 15 units

This program prepares critical citizens for a world in which people are inundated by media messages coming from every aspect of their lives. Whether it is news, social media, or streaming television programs, there is a lot of information being sent to consumers, much of which is inaccurate information. This program will help students understand the impact of media technology, how media is created, why it is created, who creates the messages, and the impact of those messages on the individual and society as a whole.

All course work used to satisfy the requirements of the minor must be completed with a minimum grade point average of 2.0.

Program Learning Outcomes

- Recognize the impact of technologies on media communication.
- Deconstruct messages for their meaning, purpose, accuracy, and intent.
- Analyze the ways media constructs a social reality and the effects on its audiences.
- Identify how messages are created for social, political, economic, historic, and aesthetic purposes.
- Apply media theory to the interpretation of messages by diverse audiences.
- Be conversant in the aesthetic and symbolic language of media.
